

Dismissive Reviews & Citation Cartels

An ISDS “Mind, Language and Cognition” Conference

Prof. Richard Phelps

17 Mai | ora 18:00

Sala CA, etajul 1, Clădirea Rectoratului

This interdisciplinary theme of the Conference addresses two of the very serious and controversial challenges of modern-day research, namely dismissive reviews (unsupported declarations of scholars declaring no previous research exists on certain topics, despite evidence of the contrary) and „citation cartels” (groups of scholars who agree to cite each others’ work and none of the other available literature). These practices have a considerable impact in the quality and ethical aspects of research, and are also reflected in the replicability crisis.
